HE DIDN'T SAY IT

Rev. Sellars Gives the Exact Words he Used Yesterday.

He Knows of No Police Officer Who Said Anything of the Kind.

ALDERMANIC MARE'S NEST

Rev. W. O. Sellars of the Third street Methodist church, was seen today relative to the statements he is alleged to have made at a meeting at Readland yesterday, and which was the subject last night of a resolution passed in the board of aldermen.

Rev. Mr. Sellars was apparently greatly surprised at the turn affairs took, as he said nothing to justify it. It seems he heard of the statement a police officer was alleged to have made while Sam Jones was here last fall, and which was then investigated and found to be without foundation, and referred to it yesterday in his talk.

At any rate Rev. Sellars states that these are his exact words: "I have heard it said by a man in Paducah, that if one of our policeman should do his duty as prescribed in his oath that he could not long remain on the force, and I, myself have lived long enough in Paducah to partly believe it."

In view of this fact the matter will now be probably dropped, as Rev. Mr. Sellars denies that he said any officer said he was not allowed to enforce the law and consequently does not know the name of any officer who said anything of the kind. Rev. Sellars says what he did say he will abide by.

Alderman Singleton, when informed of Rev. Mr. Sellars statement declared that the reverend gentleman is mistaken, as he certainly said that "a gentleman told him a certain policeman said if he did his duty he would lose his job." Jettler Jones, who was present at the meeting and heard the statements, said to a reporter when asked about it that he, too, understood the minister to say that "the man told him a policeman said it," and not that a man said if the policeman did his duty he would lose his job. The controversy seems to hinge on whether the preacher said some one said a policeman said it, or whether some responsible person simply said on his own responsibility if a policeman did his duty he would lose his job.

As Rev. Mr. Sellars knows of no officer making such a statement, however, and says he did not say it, the probability is nothing further can be done in the matter.

OIL BANK IS CLOSED

CITIZENS' NATIONAL OF BEAUMONT, TEX., SHUT BY EXAMINER.

Beaumont, Tex., August 21—The Citizens' National bank, with an authorized capital of $100,000, was closed by National Bank Examiner Logan, who has been here for a week looking into the affairs of the bank. No statement has been given out as to the amount or relation of the assets and liabilities.

The Citizens' bank was organized during the oil boom and was patronized largely by oil operators and speculators.

A. D. Childress, the cashier, is at present in New York, on en route to this city.

Former Governor Hogg is said to be interested in the bank, the deposits in which are said to aggregate $10,000.

OLD SETTLERS GONE

Capt. William Rollins Relieved From His Last Watch.

Died at 7:40 This Morning—Mr. J. V. Eaker Dies Suddenly at Mayfield.

FORMERLY LIVED IN PADUCAH

Captain William Rollins, after an illness of less than a week from stomach and bowel trouble, died at 7:40 this morning at his home at Fifth and Monroe streets. He was 77 years old on the 23d of last July, and in a quiet way celebrated the anniversary, little thinking it would be his last.

Captain Rollins was born near Perkins creek, a mile or two from the city, and resided in the county nearly all his life. He was probably the oldest living native born resident of the county. When eleven years of age he came to Paducah and had since lived here, with the exception of about three months he lived in Smithland.

He was one of the best known pilots in this part of the country. Every body along the Ohio and Tennessee rivers had heard of Captain Bill Rollins and everybody enjoyed his genial, picturesque nature.

Captain Rollins in politics was a Democrat and during the Civil war was a southern sympathizer. He was impressed into federal service up Tennessee river, but proved such a tartar to the Yankees that they were glad to let him go when they got to Paducah. For many years he ran on the boats going up Tennessee river, and was up to the day of his last illness still hale and hearty and could steer a boat as well as anyone. In fact he retired from the river only a few months ago.

Captain Rollins was a great entertainer. His stock of anecdotes was large, and as a story teller he ranked high. His wide experience enabled him to relate many interesting and varied adventures, and he was a good student of human nature, and a great reader.

Captain Rollins had been a pilot for about 60 years and had run on nearly all boats, packets and towboats, on the Ohio river between Cincinnati and Cairo and on the Tennessee and Wabash rivers. He had no license on the Cumberland or Mississippi and it is not known that he ever piloted a boat on any of these rivers. Captain Rollins had been in several disasters but was not known to have been piloting except in one when a small packet steamer was sunk at Johnsonville bridge. He was on the P. D. Stiggs as a passenger when she sank at the Johnsonville bridge a few years ago and was also on the Clyde when she went under several years ago on Tennessee river. He carried master's license but rarely ever commanded, all his experiences having been at the wheel.

Captain Joe Fowler, one of his best friends, says the following of him:

"Captain Rollins in his prime could not be excelled as a pilot. He was a hustler and had a strong and sure hand at the wheel. He had run on all boats on the Ohio, Tennessee and Wabash rivers and was well known throughout the entire courses of these rivers."

The last boats Captain Rollins piloted were the Charlotte Beckler, a towboat; Ashland City, a small packet boat and the P. D. Stiggs.

He left a wife and four children, Capt. Wm. and John Rollins, river men of St. Louis, Mr. Clarence Rollins.

THE MEANEST YET

MISCREANT POURS COAL OIL IN DEPOT WATER COOLER.

Some miscreant poured coal oil in the water coolers at the I. C. passenger depot here yesterday and the huckster used for carrying water and ice to the trains, had to be substituted for coolers until the coolers could be scoured and cleaned of the oil. Some very mean and dirty tricks—"alleged jokes"—Baggageman Flowers calls them, have been played about the depot but this latest is about the meanest, even meaner than when the chains in the toilet room leading from the flush tanks were stolen. On several occasions the electric light switches have been ruined and globes stolen but putting oil in the ice water is the climax. The officers will hereafter keep a sharp lookout for any further attempts at this so-called joking.

THE Y. M. C. A. AND EDUCATION.

In view of the fact that the local Y. M. C. A. will pay special attention to educational work next year, opening a night school September 11, the following extract from the "Christian Work and Evangelist" on what the association is accomplishing generally will prove of interest:

"It is an event of greater significance than is usually appreciated when the Young Men's Christian Association of the country annually open their evening schools, as they are now about to do. Within a month 340 associations will open evening schools where 30,000 men, from 14 to 60 years of age and four-fifths of whom are day workers will be given instruction by 1,300 men as teachers in 75 different subjects.

"It is almost safe to say that nothing that an all-round man needs to know is overlooked in these schools. Ninety per cent of the boys 14 years of age and upwards are out of school and earning their bread. The outlook for the future under such conditions would be something fearful but four opportunities like these. The average age of the young men students is 21 years. This work by some has been called 'a school for those out of school' and by others 'a gaslight university.' It includes men from more than 200 different lines of occupation and employment. In the classes we find hundreds of young men who are just learning to read, write and figure; men from 30 different nationalities; men who are running trains, surface cars, and also those who are employed in car shops; men who are already holding responsible positions as clerks, salesmen, and agents in commercial, industrial and trade life of our cities, as well as the men who mine the copper, coal and iron from the earth; men who are graduates of all kinds of colleges and universities, as well as those with many years of experience in business life. No single educational agency under Christian auspices has yet reached so many classes and conditions of men and united them in this effort for the welfare of each and all, as the educational work of the associations.

BAPTIST SEMINARY

Preparations For the Opening in October Next

No Changes in the Faculty of the College.

Preparations for opening the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville on October 5 are being made. The fund of $200,000, which is being raised for the college, has been half subscribed.

Prospects are for a contest over the will of Mrs. Katherine Porter, the Memphis woman who recently left the seminary $60,000. Should the case go into court it will mean the tying up of that much of the $200,000 fund, although in the end the trustees expect to win. The contest will be brought by the heirs of Mrs. Porter, who will attempt to break the will. Besides this amount the committee has succeeded in raising about $10,000 in small subscriptions. There have been no large gifts, but the small ones have been numerous, and it is probable that within the next year the desired sum will be raised.

No changes will be made in the faculty the coming session. Dr. E. C. Dargan has returned from a long tour in Europe and will take his old place in the faculty. No new chairs have been created, except that a special Sunday school worker will be at the college and will deliver lectures to the students on the best methods of teaching children the truths of the Bible.

PART OF STATUE FOUND

Rome, Aug. 21—The most important discovery was made during excavations in the Roman forum, consisting of the base of the celebrated equestrian statue of the Roman emperor Domitian, which is of the greatest interest in determining the topography of the forum during the first century of the empire. The base stands 5 feet below the present level of the forum. It is 40 feet long and 20 feet wide and over 10 feet high. On the top are three blocks of stone, showing where the feet of the horse stood. The fourth block is lacking, indicating that the right fore foot of the horse was raised. The distance between the blocks is so great that it is calculated that the statue was six times life-size.

PHYSICIAN AND DRUGGISTS.

We beg to say Dr. G. B. Snigley takes pleasure in recommending Herbine." 50c bottle at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

A PAUPER'S LOT

No Friends Follow the Remains of Dr. Pretty Eagle to Grave.

The Indian Chief's Wife to Return Home.

Dr. Pretty Eagle for several months quite a curiosity in Paducah, whose sudden death at Owensboro was detailed yesterday, was buried in a pauper's grave. The Messenger says: "Dr. Louis Pretty Eagle, the once self-styled famous Indian medicine man, now fills a pauper's grave in Elmwood cemetery. As he drove around the streets of the city a few days ago, he would halt at a corner and to anxious crowds proclaim that he had charmed many thousands with the eloquence of his Indian tongue, but when death struck him he was friendless. Ten months ago he married a white girl in Morganfield with an elaborate Indian ceremony, but Wednesday that woman and the undertaker were the only ones to follow his remains to their last resting place. There were no bows and arrows or any of his magic herbs placed in his cheap made grave to bring him joy and balm on the distant shores of the coveted happy hunting ground.

"The procession was far different in aspect from what it might have been had it been conducted according to the wishes of the one who lay in the popular coffin. He was in his glory when bedecked with gay colors and warlike feathers of his fallen ancestors, but in death this was not his. Even his brother, Ranning Wolf, refused to remain in the city a few hours and see Pretty Eagle start on his long journey to that land of the Great Spirit. He saw the remains in the undertakers shop, but did not contribute one cent towards a burial fund. "The father of the dead man's wife did not come from Morganfield as was expected. The city furnished the money to send her to Henderson and several friends gave her enough more to send her from there to her home. Her parents are said to have turned against her when she married Pretty Eagle against their wishes, but now that she is in such a sad plight, they have sent her word to come home."

COLORED CLUB.

INTERNAL TROUBLES THREATEN TO DISRUPT IT.

Ben Boyd's crack colored baseball club is having troubles of its own. There seem to be two sides to the story. Boyd says some of the members got mad and quit, but he has taken the remnants and organized a still better club. Some of the others say that they have simply got a new manager, and that they are all there but Ben. One cause of the rumors was the fact that Larry Rogers, the third baseman, went to Dyersburg with some of the old players two or three days ago and got beat two days in succession, Rogers himself breaking a finger.

SUICIDE'S NAME

Alleged to be a Chicago Man Who Killed Himself.

Supposed Paducah's Name said to Be Wilburn McGreal.

Yesterday's Globe Democrat says: "The man who committed suicide Monday evening on an Iron Mountain train has been identified. The identification was made by Henry Stanley of Ninth and Market streets, who says the man was Wilburn McGreal of Chicago, a former clerk in the pension office at Washington, D. C. "Stanley says he was a former fellow clerk of the suicide, and was attracted to the morgue by the pictures of the deceased in the newspapers. There is no doubt as to his identity, Stanley says, because of a scar over the right eye, the effects of an operation which was performed in his presence.

"Stanley states that he had not seen McGreal for several years, but was intimately acquainted with him when he held office in Washington. He was an appointee of General John C. Black, of Chicago, former commissioner of pensions, and brother-in-law of W. P. Black, a prominent lawyer of Chicago.

The police have communicated with the latter and will hold the body until they hear from him."

ENJOYED VACATION

PADUCAH PEOPLE COMING BACK FROM CHICAGO.

Many of the Paducah people have returned from Chicago, where they went on the excursion a few days ago. They all report a pleasant time. This annual excursion to Chicago is the only recreation or vacation that many people here get each year. They save their money and go to the Windy City to have a good time, and from all reports feel well repaid for their expense.

It is estimated that the 375 people from Paducah while in Chicago this week turned loose at least $20,000. Many will not average over $20 for the trip, but a majority of them will probably spend $10 a day.

CURED PARALYSIS.

W. S. Baily, P. O. Trone, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frost bites and skin eruptions. It does the work." 25c, 50c and $1 bottles at Dulbois, Kolb & Co.

BRIDEGROOM KILLED.

Madisonville, Ky., Aug. 21.—Robert Moore a young white man in the employ of the Carbondale Coal company, was run over and killed by a freight train while attempting to get on the cars. He was about twenty-one years old and leaves a young widow, having been married only a few days.

Aldermen Refuse to Concur in Council's Action.

Alderman Singleton Last Night Acted as President of the Board.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE MEETING

Alderman Gus Singleton last night presided over the board of aldermen in the absence of President Durrett, who is in Chicago. The board refused to concur in the action of the council in Monday night adopting Evansville brick for use on paved streets, and selected Bannan brick, made in Louisville.

The statement of Rev. Sellars at a barbeque yesterday that some police officer had made the declaration that if he enforced the law he would be fired, came up and a resolution was passed calling on the minister to give the name of the officer, and pledging the city to see that the officer making such a statement, or the one giving such an order to subordinates, will be discharged.

Mayor Yeiser's action in appointing a committee to appraise property belonging to Mr. George Bernard was ratified.

An invitation from the Central Labor union to the municipal authorities to attend the Labor day celebrations was accepted.

All bids from veterinaries for caring for the city horses were rejected being too high.

The action of the council in awarding the street improvement contract to Contractor E. C. Terrell was ratified and the matter of selecting the brick to be used taken up. A letter was read relative to the use of Bannan brick in Louisville in which it was stated that Bannan brick had been used successfully because they were good brick and not because the company had a "pull" in Louisville as Councilman Hummel, in the lower board, had stated. Councilman Hummel was present and tried to make a reply but was reminded that this was a board of aldermen meeting and that he might discuss the matter in his own board. The council selected Evansville brick, which stood the lowest test of samples submitted, and the board refused to ratify the action, but instead instructed to use Bannan brick. Aldermen Singleton and Smith were the only members voting for the Evansville brick.

The street inspector was instructed to build a wooden bottom culvert at Third and Tennessee streets, the material to be furnished by Mr. H. A. Potter.

The matter of extending the sewerage on Tennessee street near Third was referred to the city engineer. It seems that the grade is too high and the pipe can not be well extended on account of not having enough fall.

The matter of placing a piling at the river front on First and Broadway in the rear of the boat store and ice factory, to better wharf facilities, was referred to the mayor, city engineer, city solicitor and public improvement committee. The council ordered the piling.

The ordinance committee was ordered to bring in an ordinance changing the name of Court street to Kentucky street.

The ordinance abolishing the office of city solicitor and merging it into the office of city attorney and that providing for a tax of $500 on merchants who come here to sell fire stock goods were referred for revision. The council killed both ordinances.

The action of the council in refusing to pay city attorney Jesse Gilbert his fees monthly was ratified. He is paid quarterly when Marshal Crow makes his report.

The regular bills against the city amounting to a total of $2,527.39 were allowed.

The ordinance providing for the improvement of Tenth street from Hnsbands to Elizabeth street was given first passage. The dirt taken out will be hauled to Hnsbands between Fifth and Sixth to raise the grade.

The ordinance for the improvement of Hnsbands street from Third to Fourth was given second passage.

The action of the council in awarding the contract for the improvement of Hayes avenue to Contractor E. C. Terrell was ratified.

Several matters pertaining to transfer of deeds to Oak Grove lots were acted on.

The Baker and Elrod saloon license was transferred to Elrod and Story.

The J. D. Overstreet's saloon license was transferred to 900 North Eighth street from 818 Boyd street.

The sewerage inspector was ordered to flush and clean out the sewerage system.

Fred Romann was granted permission to operate a lunch stand at Second and Court street without license for six months on account of not being able to do manual labor.

Alderman Singleton here made a statement relative to assertions made by Rev. W. C. Sellars at Reedland yesterday in a sermon in which he charged that a policeman had informed him that if he did his duty he would be discharged. Alderman Singleton read the following resolution: "Whereas, yesterday Rev. Sellars at a public meeting at Reedland, in this county, in the presence of numbers of people charged a policeman of this city with saying that he was instructed if he did his duty and enforced the laws he would lose his position, and in order that this guilty man may be brought before the proper authorities, we demand of Rev. Sellars and his authority the name of said policeman, and instruct the mayor and police and fire commissioners to take the matter up at once and if said policeman is proven guilty of said charge and has misrepresented the facts, that he be removed, and further if any man in authority over said policeman has been guilty of giving any such instructions that he be asked to resign his position."

Alderman Kirchhoff seemed to think the affair should be ignored, but the resolution was unanimously adopted. The board then adjourned.

INTERESTING SOCIAL

OVER $100 WAS CLEARED AT THE AFFAIR.

Last night a big ice cream supper and picnic was given at Lone Oak at Friendship Baptist church and the church workers cleared $136 on the affair.

There was a money contest, a watch being given for the prize, which went to Mr. Ed Pepper. The persons who sold the most ice cream and had the most money in the jng to show for his efforts won the prize. Mr. Pepper had $30 in his jng to show how hard he had worked.

Messrs. J. B. Gardner and G. W. Hoyer went to Bedford, Ind., today on a visit.

CATARRH A COMMON COMPLAINT.

Catarrh begins with a stubborn cold in the head, inflammation or soreness of the membrane or lining of the nose, discharge of mucus matter, headaches, neuralgia and difficult breathing, and even in this early stage is almost intolerable. But when the filthy secretions begin to drop back into the throat and stomach, and the blood becomes polluted and the system contaminated by the catarrhal poison, then the sufferer begins to realize what a disgusting and sickening disease Catarrh is.

It affects the kidneys and stomach as well as other parts of the body. It is a constitutional disease and as inhaling mixtures, salves, ointments, etc., are never more than palliative or helpful, even in the beginning of Catarrh, what can you expect from such treatment when it becomes chronic and the whole system affected? Only such a remedy as S. S. S. can reach this obstinate, deep-seated disease and purge the blood of the catarrhal poison. S. S. S. purifies and builds up the diseased blood, and the inflamed membranes are healed and the excessive secretion of mucus ceases when new, rich blood is coming to the diseased parts, and a permanent cure is the result.

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and a reliable remedy for Catarrh in all stages. Write if in need of medical advice; this will cost you nothing.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Good temper, like a summer day, sheds a brightness over everything.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and warmer tonight, tomorrow fair.

Owensboro is now in the throes of a controversy over saloon license. Owing to Sunday violations two saloon licenses were revoked, not that the two saloons were the only ones kept open, but simply that they were the ones selected to make examples of. The saloons applied for a new license, and were refused, and they then kept open and continued to sell, license or no license, and in order to test the case have been warranted. They claim that the city had no right to deprive them of their license. The council has also passed a new ordinance making $50 the lowest fine for saloon keeping open on Sunday.

The average Democrat in Kentucky pretends to believe firmly that the conspirators responsible for the death of Senator Goebel have been found in the persons of several former Republican officials. Yet they have never believed it firmly enough to pay out any of the $100,000 corruption fund for the conviction of any of the accused, although Henry Youtsey has for the past two years or more been serving a life sentence. Two Louisville detectives are now preparing to bring suit against the reward commission for $5,000 for Youtsey's conviction because they have never been paid.

The aldermen in selecting Bannon brick showed that the majority favored good material. The fact that the administration is in favor of the Evansville brick should indicate that there is something up, and it is a good time to be for some other brick. The Evansville brick stood comparatively a poor test, and considering the fact there is much better brick purchasable Paducah should get it. If good material can't be put into the streets the work should not be done at all. The council should ratify the action of the board of aldermen. No one can consistently censure a public officer for voting for good material, but everyone can and should censure him for voting for poor material.

The grading and graveling of North Tenth street from Terrell's line to the city limits has been started at last. This work should have been completed two years ago. The city bought right of way from Contractor Terrell on condition that he improve by grading and graveling the street from his line to the city limits. Instead of being made into a street, however, it has been fenced up and used as a pasture for years, thus depriving the public of its use, and the city has never made any effort to have the contract complied with until recently, when attention was called to it through a local paper. It is the duty of the mayor to see that all contracts are carried out, and in matters of such importance as this mere forgetfulness is no excuse. Men are not put into office to forget public matters.

The ordinance to vote city bonds for street purposes was not discussed at last night's meeting of the board of aldermen because the ordinance has to first receive its second passage in the board of councilmen. The general opinion seems to be that the city should issue enough bonds to pave all the streets necessary at present, and have it over with. It is extremely doubtful if a $60,000 bond issue can ever be carried in Paducah because it will be insufficient. If we are to have bonds for street improvements at all, we should have enough to make all the improvements necessary or advisable at this time. It would be cheaper in the long run. At the rate past improvements of this character have been paid for $60,000 wouldn't improve but a small portion of what should be improved.

MINING KING DEAD.

HE HAD ONE OF THE MOST VALUABLE PROPERTIES IN THE WORLD.

Austin, Tex., August 21—A private dispatch was received here from Chihuahua, Mexico, confirming the report of the death at Parral, in that state of Pedro Alvarado, the multimillionaire mining man.

Alvarado was one of the most spectacular characters in Mexico. Six years ago he was a barefooted peon, working in a mine at 30 cents per day. He discovered the wonderful prospect now known as the Pail Mill mine, and developed it by degrees until it is one of the greatest producing properties in the world.

Alvarado kept an armed guard at the mine, and no one but his workmen was allowed to enter it. How much it has produced is not known, but it is conservatively estimated that Alvarado's wealth aggregated fully $25,000,000. Most of this in cash. He had no faith in banks, and it is said more than $60,000,000 of silver bars are locked in a strong steel cage at his palatial home near Parral. This cage is constantly guarded by a large force of men. Alvarado recently offered to pay the public debt of Mexico but his offer was refused by Finance Minister Limantour.

A year ago Alvarado chartered a special train and made his first trip on a railroad to the city of Chihuahua. He took a bodyguard of about 200 men and all of his family and relations along. He distributed charity with a liberal hand on this trip, and among other things donated a large sum for the building of a Catholic church. He gave hundreds of thousands of dollars to the poor of Parral.

NINE FOOT STAGE

THE COMMISSION RECOMMENDS IT TO THE GOVERNMENT FOR THE OHIO.

The Commission of United States Engineers has recommended to the government a nine-foot depth of water in the Ohio river. This is the opening wedge that probably will change the entire system of river improvement on that stream. The commission of engineers is composed of Col. Garrett Lydecker, engineer in charge of the Central Division with headquarters in Cincinnati; Capt. W. L. Sibert, engineer in Pittsburg, and Capt. W. E. Craighill, of Mobile, Ala. This commission was authorized by an act of congress.

THE TOBACCO NEWS

The Situation Has Not Yet Been Cleared up.

The Trust Can Be Counted on to do What It Deems Best For Itself.

OPINION OF AN AUTHORITY.

Tobacco men all over the state have been discussing recently some way to stop the inroads on their business of the trust. The Western Tobacco Journal gives some very sensible ideas in its recent issue on the subject as follows:

"The daily papers for the past two weeks, have been publishing sensational articles regarding the tobacco interests of Cincinnati and Louisville, some of which, for common sense business and pure rot, could not be excelled. It is true that the tobacco interest of the two markets have been in conference with the officials of the Consolidated Tobacco Company in New York for the purpose of bringing about an amicable arrangement for the purchase and sale of tobacco in the markets of both cities.

"The warehousemen are desirous of having the Consolidated Tobacco company quit buying tobacco in the country and make their purchase in the open markets at auction.

"What proposition has been made in detail to the Consolidated Tobacco company by the Cincinnati and Louisville warehousemen to have their cooperation in the handling of Burley tobacco, has not been made known. There is one evident fact and that is, it would have to be of considerable financial advantage to the Consolidated to abolish their present method of purchasing leaf tobacco.

"Of course, in order to do this, it would have to be shown to President J. B. Duke that it would be to the interest of his company to do so, which the warehousemen have failed to do, from the fact that they have not in any way received any encouragement that their efforts will bear fruit.

"The Burley crop will range from 125,000,000 to 135,000,000 pounds annually, of which it is estimated that the American and Continental Tobacco companies buy in the country from 25,000,000 to 35,000,000 pounds a year. With several plants established in the tobacco growing sections, for the rehandling of their purchases, some of which are modern and expensive, and the fact that they are going to erect a large tobacco dryer and rehandling machine in their Lexington, Ky., factory for leaf tobacco, does not look encouraging for the change asked for by the warehousemen.

"It is to be hoped that an arrangement will be made that will benefit the markets, but, as one of the parties expressed the result of their efforts.

"They have no encouragement so far and are at where they started."

GOLCONDA MAN.

IS TO CLAIM A BRIDE WHO GOES TO MEET HIM.

Miss Lillian Taylor, a popular young lady of Carbondale, Ill., and one of the recently elected corps of teachers for the city schools, left yesterday for San Francisco, where she sails on the 27th inst. for Auckland, New Zealand. On her arrival there, she will be married to J. J. Hills Moss, formerly of Golconda, who is the New Zealand manager of the Deering harvester company. They became acquainted while students of the state university in Carbondale.

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are to catch cold, you will find it well worth your while to purchase the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of consumption and throat and lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe coughs, bronchitis, croup—and especially for consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. The 25 cents size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. At all druggists. DuBois, Kolb & Co.

line of Colorado, and Mrs. Emma Rehkopf, of this city.

The funeral will take place from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. The burial will be at Oak Grove.

Mr. J. Volney Eaker, of Syracuse, Ark., and formerly of this city, dropped dead from heart disease on the street in Mayfield late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Eaker had been visiting in Mayfield for several weeks. He was walking on the street, when he suddenly fell to the ground and died before a physician could be summoned.

His sons, Street Inspector James Eaker and Messrs. Samuel, Frank, Edward and Lee Eaker, of this city, were notified of his death, and Messrs. Edward and Lee Eaker went to Mayfield last night. They brought their father's remains to the city at 1:20 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Eaker was 66 years of age and was born in Graves county. At the beginning of the Civil war he became a Confederate soldier, and served with bravery during the conflict. After the war he came to Paducah to live and resided here, until a few years ago, when he went to Tyranna, Ark., to make his home with his daughter.

Mr. Eaker's wife, who died many years ago was a sister of Alderman Gus Singleton, of this city. Besides his five sons in Paducah he left two others sons: Mr. John Eaker of Bardwell and Mr. Gus Eaker of Tyranna and one daughter, Mrs. Louise Turk of Tyranna. Mr. Eaker was well known and popular in this city and vicinity and his death will be very much regretted.

A NEW PAPER

The Evening Ledger to Appear Next Week.

Will Be a Campaign Paper in the Interest of "Reform."

A new Paducah newspaper, the Evening Ledger, a daily publication, independent in politics, will make its appearance one afternoon next week, probably Monday. The paper is to be operated by a stock company of Paducah business and professional men, and it is understood, will advocate municipal reform. It is to be published particularly in the interest of the coming city election.

Mr. S. W. Banks, of St. Louis, will be business manager, Mr. Will T. Hale, lately of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, and a well known literary contributor to various publications will be editor, and Mr. W. A. Hall, recently of the St. Louis Chronicle, will be city editor and local reporter. These gentlemen arrived in the city this morning.

The paper will be published at the Register office, and the editorial department will be located in the Marshall building, next opposite.

It is understood the gentlemen back of the enterprise are nearly all, of not all members of the Good Government league, but the latter as an organization, they want it understood, is not backing it. If the paper proves a success it will be made permanent and a plant purchased.

Theatrical Notes.

Miss Alma Hays, of Paducah, who went to Chicago to take a course in vocal instruction, has just completed a ten weeks course at the Chicago Auditorium Conservatory in the department known as "The Hinshaw School of Opera and Dramatic Art," and will return home in a few days for a vacation. Miss Hays has signed with the "Prince of Plisen" but concluded to finish her course in dramatic art, and will probably begin with another company early next year. Her many friends in Paducah will be pleased to know that her excellent voice has been greatly improved by the training she has received.

PRETTY BIG HOLE

A Great Curiosity can now be Seen in Paducah.

Forty Feet Deep Is Water Company's Filtration Well.

It will doubtless be many a day before people have an opportunity to see such a large hole as they can now gaze into by a walk to the water company's plant on South First street a block and a half off Broadway. They do not have to pay any admission price, and in addition can see quite an unusual piece of engineering when they go down.

The big hole is for the filtration well of the water company. It is 40 feet deep, and extends from the company's plant out to the street. The dirt is pulled out onto a tramway and hauled to the river bank, and dumped into a hollow. The diggers have struck a strata or two of gravel that is so hard it has to be drilled. It can not be moved with the ordinary pick, and has required more time in digging the well than anticipated.

There are thousands of braces to prevent the sides of the well from caving in, but yesterday it was feared for a short time that the side nearest the street which had not been braced, would collapse, and after considerable excitement it was propped by long telephone poles. The work of laying the concrete will begin as soon as the bottom is smoothed off.

In addition to the hole, the company has taken the entire front out of its plant, and the huge pumps work in full view of everybody. The floor is suspended by wire ropes, and the entire front of the building resembles a huge stage, well suspended and braced.

FRIGHTENED AWAY

MAN CUT THE SCREEN DOOR BUT DID NOT GET IN.

A man attempted to break into the home of Misses Ila and Mittie Hart on South Fourth street between Washington and Clark this morning at 3 o'clock, but did not succeed in getting in.

He first tried to open the shutters of Miss Ila Hart's room, and then went to the back door and cut the screen to pieces. When he attempted to place a skeleton key in the door, however, he aroused the house and one of the young ladies screamed and asked for a pistol. He ran around the house and escaped through the front gate. In the darkness it could not be ascertained whether he was white or colored.

DAVY CROCKETT

NOTED PIONEER ONCE INDICTED FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Huntingdon, Tenn., Aug. 21—While looking through a pile of courthouse records at the courthouse in this city one of the county officials discovered quite a curiosity in the shape of an indictment found by the grand jury of the circuit court of Carroll county, which charges one Davy Crockett, a citizen of this county, with having committed an assault and battery upon the person of another citizen not named in the indictment. It is not known whether or not the illustrious Crockett was ever convicted of the charge.

Mrs. Samuel Lowe, is ill at her home on South Sixth street.

Mr. Fliss Fields, who has been quite ill from typhoid fever, is improving.

Mr. E. W. Bagby, who is quite ill at his home on Broadway, was slightly better today.

Sleep Keeps Him Young.

One of the youngest looking old men in the English house of commons is Sir John Gorst. He is now getting on to 70, but he has a brisk step, his complexion is ruddy and he speaks with the same brightness, self-possession and acidity which he displayed in the '30s. He attributes his extraordinary youthfulness to the fact that he has for years followed the advice given him by the late Sir Andrew Clark, the celebrated physician, and has, under all circumstances, remained nine hours of every twenty-four in bed.

HITS WERE SCATTERED.

Best and Betts were the contending pitchers in yesterday afternoon's game at Wallace park, and Paducah lost by a score of 8 to 3. It was easy enough to find Betts, but somehow the Indians couldn't bunch their hits and cross the rubber while the Clarksville boys pounded out an easy victory. Best pitched a good game, and struck out thirteen men, but it was the hits that counted, not the strikeouts. He did not receive the support necessary to a victory, several costly errors being made.

In the third inning Engle, the heavy hitting short stop for the visitors, sent the sphere over the fence, scoring Holmes. In the sixth Collins scored on a fly which some one should have nailed, and Gage made a splendid running catch of Carlisle's fly, retiring the side. Paducah scored first in the sixth, Ray being brought in by Clifford's double. In the seventh Clarksville scored three more, Reiney scoring on a wild pitch, Holmes scoring on Collins' grass center to center, and Collins scoring on Anderson's drive to left. Paducah tallied twice in this inning, Akers scoring on Best's double and Potts scoring on Gage's double. In the eighth Caraway scored on T. Holmes' hit to left.

Best pitched himself out of some bad holes, and the visitors were able to make the showing they did principally on errors. The summary:

FROM HOPKINSVILLE NEW ERA.

Paducah must have been indulging regularly in batting practice... Paducah has now broken her hoodoo against knocking home runs and this feat may be expected at any time in the future... George W. Robinson, a pitcher from St. Louis, has been signed and went to Cairo this morning. He is a small man but looks as if he could deliver the goods. He formerly lived at Nashville. He is said to have played in the Western league... Street has a growing ambition to be a pitcher, and is said to be practicing daily. He's got all sorts of speed and good curves. Till Edwards feels sure he could catch if the opportunity should be afforded him. Don't be surprised if the "best ever" trade positions occasionally.

NOTES.

Best need more curves yesterday than usual. That's one reason he fanned so many.

Today's batteries will be Lloyd and Clifford for Paducah; S. Holmes and T. Holmes for Clarksville. S. Holmes played left field yesterday.

Engle, Clarksville's short stop, is one of the best and most popular players in the league. His hitting is always helpful to the prospective champions.

Long, Paducah's left fielder, who sprained an ankle yesterday afternoon in a game of ball at Wallace park grounds, will not be able to resume work in the field for some time. The sprain is a bad one and the little fielder's hitting and fast fielding, base running and other good work will be greatly missed.

It is reported that four Clarksville men quit the team prior to the team's arrival here and the Henderson paper printed a story to that effect which is denied by the Clarksville boys. It was published that four had quit and among them was Harris, the star twirler. This was denied, Harris being here with the team and reserving himself for the battle with Cairo. Quilty, a fielder, and Myatt, a pitcher, have both left the team, the latter having been released. Quilty, it is said, has not been released but will not play with the team again, his place being filled by Caraway, an ex army captain.

No one likes to have to roast the home management, but the fans in Paducah have stood a great deal this season. The newspapers have done their share of boosting the sport and the association has never been at any expense to advertise its games. In other places regular baseball standing aids are paid for. There has been anything but good management here. The foul lines are seldom marked, where they should be marked to the fence every day, as whitewash is cheap and the Paducah team ought to have a good supply on hand by this time. The players' benches are filled with bums and boys, where the rules allow no one but the players on the benches, and half the time the Paducah club is so lazy, and the management so indifferent that coaches are not sent out to the bases until fans in the grand stand yell to send coaches out. Often the spectators have to sit on the hard seats until 1 o'clock for the game to begin, and for no apparent reason. All these things show an indifference that is totally foreign to good management and a regard for the convenience of the public. Three men were changed yesterday simply to get a man on third. By putting Edmonds on third and leaving the other players in their proper places, some costly errors might have been prevented.

Great Promises for Electricity. Prof. Mason of the Smithsonian Institution, says that the most needed achievement of 1903 is the discovery of a satisfactory method of economizing electricity. Some day, he says, in the not distant future the rivers will make all the electricity we want. We shall harness the streams and they will heat every house, run every wheel and light every lamp.

TO GET NEW SABERS.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 21—Adj. Gen. Murray has ordered one hundred new regulation sabers for military officers of the Kentucky State Guard. The sabers will be used at the combined maneuvers at West Point.

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Melora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Cour d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shines.

The features of the princess became pale and sharpened under the soft-

"Sire, if this is not my brother, who

Louis XVIII. may have been tender
to her every other moment of his life, but he was hard then, and looked beyond her toward the door, making a sign with his hand.

The door opened again. We turned our heads, and I grew hot at the cruelty which put that light before my sister's eyes. He ran on all fours, his gaunt wrists exposed, until Bellenger, advancing behind, took him by the arm
and made him stand erect.

How long Bellenger had been before hand with me in Milton I could not guess. But when I saw the scoundrel who had laid me in St. Pelagie and doubtless dropped me in the Seine, ready to do me more mischief, smug and smooth as ever, and in the red collared blue coat which seemed to be the prescribed uniform of that court, all my confidence returned. I was Louis of France. I could laugh at anything he had to say.

Behind him entered a priest, who advanced up the room and made obeisance to the king, as Bellenger did.

Mme. d'Angoulême looked once at the idiot and hid her eyes, the king protecting her. I said to myself:

"It will soon be against my breast not yours, that she hides her face, my excellent uncle of Provence."

Yet he was as sincere a man as ever saw to witnesses, "We shall now hear the truth."

The few courtiers, enduring with hardness a sight which they perhaps had seen before, though Mme. d'Angoulême had not, made a rustle among themselves as if chiding, "Yes, now we shall hear the truth."

The king again kissed my sister's hand and placed her in a seat beside his armchair, which he resumed.

"Monsieur the Abbe Edgeworth," he said, "having stood on the scaffold with our martyred sovereign as priest and confessor, is eminently the one to conduct an examination like this which touches matters of conscience. We leave it to his hands."

Abbe Edgeworth, fine and sweet of presence, stood by the king, facing Bel-lenger and the idiot. That poor creature, astonished by his environment, gazed at the high room corners or nudged experimentally at the courtiers, stretching his cracked lips over darkened fangs.

"You are admitted here, Bellenger," said the priest, "to answer his majesty's questions in the presence of witnesses."

"I thank his majesty," said Bellenger.

The abbe began as if the idiot attracted his notice for the first time.

"Who is the unfortunate child you hold with your right hand?"

"The dauphin of France, monsieur
the abbe," spoke out Bellenger, his left hand on his hip.

"What! Take care what you say!
How do you know that the dauphin of France is yet among the living?"

Bellenger's countenance changed, and he took his hand off his hip and let it hang down.

"I received the prince, monsieur, from those who took him out of the Temple prison."

"And you never exchanged him for another person or allowed him to be separated from you?"

Bellenger swore, with ghastly lips,
"Never, on my hopes of salvation, monsieur the abbe."

"Admitting that somebody gave you this child to keep—by the way, how old is he?"

"About twenty years, monsieur."

"What right had you to assume he was the dauphin?"

"I had received a yearly pension, monsieur, from his majesty himself for the maintenance of the prince."

"You received the yearly pension through my hand, acting as his majesty's minister. His majesty was ever too bountiful to the unfortunate. He has many dependents. Where have you lived with your charge?"

"We lived in America, sometimes in the woods and sometimes in towns."

"Has he ever shown hopeful signs of recovering his reason?"

"Never, monsieur the abbe."

Having touched thus lightly on the case of the idiot, Abbe Edgeworth turned to me.

"The king's face retained its granite hardness, but Bellenger's passed from shade to shade of baffled confidence, recovering only when the priest said:

"Now look at this young man. Have you ever seen him before?"

"Yes, monsieur, I have, both in the American woods and in Paris."

"What was he doing in the American woods?"

"Living on the bounty of one Count de Chaumont, a friend of Bonaparte's."

"Who is he?"

"A French half breed, brought up
among the Indians."

"What name does he bear?"

"He is called Lazarre."

"But why is a French half breed named Lazarre attempting to force himself on the exiled court here in Mit-tan?"

"People have told him that he resembles the Bourbon, monsieur."

"Was he encouraged in this idea by the friend of Bonaparte whom you mentioned?"

"I think not, monsieur the abbe. But I heard a Frenchman tell him he was like the martyred king, and since that hour he has presumed to consider himself the dauphin."

"Who was this Frenchman?"

"The Duke of Orleans, Louis Philippe de Bourbon, monsieur the abbe."

"There was an expressive movement
among the courtiers.

"Was Louis Philippe instrumental in sending him to France?"

"He was. He procured shipping for the pretender."

"When the pretender reached Paris
what did he do?"

"He attempted robbery and was taken in the act and thrown into St. Pelagie. I saw him arrested."

"What were you doing in Paris?"

"I was following and watching this dangerous pretender, monsieur the abbe."

"Did you leave America when he did?"

"The evening before, monsieur. And we consulted him."

"Did you leave Paris when he did?"

"Three days later, monsieur. But we passed him while he rested."

"Why do you call such an insignificant person a dangerous pretender?"

"He is not insignificant, monsieur, as you will say when you hear what he did in Paris."

"He was thrown into the prison of St. Pelagie, you told me."

"But he escaped by cloaking a sacrile-gious act that the poor man will long bear the marks on his throat. And the first thing I knew he was high in favor with the Marquis du Plessy, and Bonaparte spoke to him, and the police laughed at complaints lodged against him."

"Who lodged complaints against him?"

"I did, monsieur."

"But he was too powerful for you to touch?"

"He was well protected, monsieur the abbe. He flattered. While the poor prince and myself suffered inconvenience and forced him."

"The poor prince, you say?"

"We never had a fitting allowance, monsieur," Bellenger declared aggressively. "Yet with little or no means I tried to bring this pretender to justice and defend his majesty's throne."

"Pensioners are not often so outspoken in their dissatisfaction," remarked
the priest.

I laughed as I thought of the shifts to which Bellenger must have put Abbe Edgeworth with merciless dryness implied.

"Law were you able to post to Mit-
tan?"

"I borrowed money of a friend in Paris, monsieur, trusting that his majesty will requite me for my services."

"But why was it necessary for you to post to Mittan, where this pretender would certainly meet exposure?"

"Because I discovered that he carried with him a casket of the martyred queen's jewels, stolen from the Marquis du Plessy."

"How did the Marquis du Plessy obtain possession of the queen's jewels?"

"That I do not know."

"But the jewels are the lawful property of Mme. d'Angoulême. He must have known they would be seized."

"I thought it necessary to bring my evidence against him, monsieur."

"There was little danger of his imposing himself upon the court. Yet you are rather to be commended than censured, Bellenger. Did this pretender know you were in Paris?"

"He saw me there."

"Many times?"

"At least twice, monsieur the abbe."

"Did he avoid you?"

"I avoided him. I took pains to keep him from knowing how I watched him."

"You say he flattered. When he left Paris for Mittan was the fact generally reported?"

"No, monsieur."

"You learned it yourself?"

"Yes, monsieur."

"But he must have known you would pursue him."

"He left with great secrecy, monsieur the abbe. It was given out that he was merely going to the country."

"What made you suspect he was coming to Mittan?"

not care whether the others believed or not. I was going to begin with Lake George, the mountains and the fog, and Bellenger's fear of me and his rage when Louis Philippe told him the large portion of the money sent from England was given to me.

Facing Marie Therese therefore instead of the Abbe Edgeworth, I spoke her name. She looked up once more.
And instead of being in Milton I was suddenly on a balcony at Versailles!

The night landscape, chill and dim, stretched beyond a multitude of roaring moating, coarse lips, flaming eyes illuminated by torches, the heads ornamented with a three colored thing stick into the caps. My hand stretched out for support and met the tight clasp of my mother's fingers. I knew that she was lowering between Marie Therese and me, a fearless palpitating statement. The devilish roaring mob shot above itself a forced, admiring, piercing cry, "Long live the queen!" Then all became the humming of bees, the vibration of a string—nothing!

CHAPTER XVIII.

B LACKNESS surrounded the post
carriage in which I awoke, and it seemed to stand in a timid that was alive at one end. Two huge trees, branches and all, were burning on a big hearth, stones glowing under them, and figures with long beards in black robes passed between me and the fire, stirring a candles. If ever witches' brewing was seen it looked like that.

The last eclipse of a mind had come upon me without any reading and tearing in the head, and facts returned clearly and directly. I saw the black robed figures were Jews cooking supper at a large fireplace, and we had driven upon the brick floor of a post house which had a door nearly the size of a gate. At that end spread a ghostly line of open land, forest and sky. I lay stretched upon cushions as well as the vehicle would permit, and was aware by a shadow which came between me and the Jews that Skened-donk stood at the step.

"What are you about?" I spoke, with a rush of energy, sitting up. "Are we on the road to Paris?"

"Yes," he answered.

"You have made a mistake, Skened-donk."

"No mistake," he maintained. "Wait until I bring you some supper. After supper we can talk."

"Bring the supper at once then, for I am going to talk now."

"Are you quite awake?"

"Quite awake. How long did it last this time?"

"Two days."

"We are not two days' journey out of Mittan?"

"Yes."

"Well, when you have horses put in tomorrow morning turn them back to Mittan."

Skenedonk went to the gigantic hearth, and one of the Jews ladled him out a bowlful of the golden stew, which he brought to me.

The staff was not offensive, and I was hungry. He brought another bowlful for himself, and we ate as we had often done in the woods. The fire shone on his bald pate and gave out the liquid lights of his fawn eyes.

"I have made a fool of myself in Mittan, Skenedonk."

"Why do you want to go back?"

"Because I am not going to be thrown out of the palace without a hearing."

"What is the use?" said Skenedonk.

"The old fat chief will not let you stay. He doesn't want to hear you talk. He wants to be King himself."

"Did you see me sprawling on the floor like the idiot?"

"Not like the idiot. Your face was down."

"Did you see the duchess?"

"Yes."

"What did she do?"

"Nothing. She leaned on the women, and they took her away."

"Tell me all you saw."

"When you went in to hold council,
I watched and saw a priest and Bel-lenger and the boy that God had touched all go in after you. So I knew the council would be bad for you, Lazarre, and I stood by the door with my knife in my hand. When the talk had gone on awhile I heard something like the dropping of a buck on the ground and sprang in, and the men drew their swords and the women screamed. The priest pointed at you and said, 'God has smitten the pre-tender.' Then they all went out of the room except the priest, and we opened your collar. I told him you had fallen like that before and the stroke passed off in sleep. He said your carriage waited, and if I valued your safety I would put you in it and take you out of Mittan. He called servants to help me carry you. I thought about your jewels, but some drums began to beat and I thought about your life."

"But, Skenedonk, didn't my sister—
the lady I led by the hand, you remember—speak to me again, or look at me, or try to revive me?"

"No. She went away with the women carrying her."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

She Wanted to Know.

A Chicago dentist tells this story:
"Some years ago a young woman recently from the Emerald Isle called at my office to have some dental work done. I examined her teeth and found that among them was one so badly wasted that it was not worth filling. I told her this. 'How long,' she asked,
'do you think it would last if it were filled?' 'I have no idea,' I replied.
'Not very long, anyway.' 'Well, how long do you think?' she persisted. 'I cannot say,' I returned, 'I would not guarantee it for any length of time.'
Still anxious and determined to secure a favorable and definite answer, she asked: 'Will it last longer than you think it will?'"

LABOR CONVENTION.

THE DATE HAS BEEN MADE LATER BY LEADERS.

The date of the convention of the United Labor party and the Allied People's party, for the selection of a fall state ticket, has been changed from August 26 to September 16 at Louisville.

This was done so that the delegates might be able to take advantage of the excursion rates that will be given by all railroads on account of the great Labor carnival there.

It is expected that 400 delegates will attend from all over the state. The notice of the change of date was received today signed by Joe D. Bradburn, for the United Labor party, and by Jo A. Parker, for the Allied People's party.

A BIG EXPEDITION.

Chicago, Aug. 21—When John Alexander Dowie's expedition starts for New York on October 14 at least 4,000 persons will have to be moved, instead of 2,400 as originally announced. Not all of the crusaders will come from Chicago and Zion City. The movement will be the largest of its kind to take place in a single day in the history of railroads, and will tax their ability to the utmost.
